

My Initial Days in New Office

As my first organization is Accenture where I got a job and my joining happened in corona situation because of that I was not able to visit my office at my initial day of office. But I want to share my initial day experience which I did from remotely.so, On my first day of job, I got ready early in the morning and sit Infront of my laptop. But eventually at that day nothing happened. only one mail I got at that day i.e., for confirmation mail that yes you are joining this organization or not.

After that on Monday, I got a mail from my organization i.e., welcome to the Accenture. An introduction meeting schedule by my HR with other fellow members where we interact with each other, know about our organization, their culture, their work environment. I personally interact with few colleagues of mine who now became my good friends.

within few days I got a mail to choose your stream course. So, I choose Java technology after that all colleagues are separated based on their stream and joined their own stream training group. Then at the end, one of our organization team i.e., LKM Team schedule call with our stream training mentor and after that our training started. That's how my initial day started in my new office.
